THE DEATH OF GEORGE

Will Likely Throw Many Votes to Tammany.

WILL GET SOME.

The George Leaders at First Favored supporting the Citizens' Union Candidate, but Finally Nominated the Son of Their Dead Candidate.

New York, Oct. 30.—The practical politicians are all said to agree that the huge Democracy of Thomas Jefferson, built up by Henry George in three weeks, will not be a principal factor in pext Tuesday's election. It had been generally estimated that he would have polled more than 100,000 votes if he had survived the campaign, but these votes are probably not transferable. Henry George was to have broken his own record by speaking to six monster rallies last night. These meetings were not held. In both meetings the speakers referred feelingly to the death of Mr.

GEORGE'S SUDDEN DEATH.

Had Returned From a Hard Speaking four Some Hours Before-The Victim of Apoplexy-Hard Work of the Campaign Killed Him.

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—Henry George. the candidate of the Jeffersonian Democracy for mayor of Greater New York, died suddenly in the Union Square hotel, of what is thought to have been apoplexy.

Mr. George arrived at the hotel at about 1 o'clock in the morning. He had just come from several large massmeetings in the boroughs of Queens and Brooklyn. The work of the night seems to have told on him. He complained of being tired, but his friends and relatives who awaited him thought it only the natural fatigue that follows such hard campaign work as Mr. George had been doing.

Not long after reaching the hotel he retired. Mrs. George awaited him in room 22 of the hotel. It was about 8:30 o'clock when Mrs. George was awakened. She found Mr. George sitting in an armchair.

"I am not feeling quite comfortable," said Mr. George to his wife. "Won't you go back to bed?" enquired Mrs. George anxiously. 'I will sit here awhile," was the an-Mrs. George at once grew anxious as to her husband's condition Mr. George gradualty grew inconerent and lapsed | into semi-consciousness.

Mrs. George was now thoroughly alarmed and called her son, Henry George, Jr., from an adjoining room. Frank Stevens was also called in. Mr. George was now unconscious.

A call was sent to Dr. Kelly of 117 East Fifty-ninth street, and he came without delay.

Mr. George was still unconscious. All efforts to revive him failed. Without sign of recognition to those around him he passed peacefully away at 4:45

Mrs. George and Henry George, Jr., have been solicitous regarding the effect of the terrible strain of his being bundled about from place to place each day and far into the night and making speeches before wildly enthusiatic gatherings of his admirers and it has been noted again and again that his faithful wife sat beside her husband on the platform from which he spoke or watched closely from a place of vantage close by.

Mr. George has not been strong for the past three years and his son, Henry George, Jr., has been his companion in almost every enterprise in which he has engaged, going with him on his tours the leaders were in favor of throwing of the west as a special newspaper corpaign. Within the past day or two close friends of Mr. George have noted with apprehension marked changes in his appearance and manner. His eyes grew dull. Wrinkles came at the corners and his eyes sunk in hollow caverns. His voice, usually resonant and pleasant, now pitched almost to piping treble, in conversations was querulous, while he seemed like one whose nerves were so highly wrought that they might snap without warning. The pace of the campaign was harder than this man, high strung and sensitive, could maintain.

In his great Cooper Union speech accepting the nomination for mayor less than a month ago he said: "I'll make this race if it costs me my life. This is a call to duty, and, as a good citizen, I have no right to disregard it on account of mere personal consideration."

Henry George was born on Sept. 2, 1839. He received a common school education and then went into a counting room. He was also a sailor and afterward learned the printer's trade. In 1858 he reached California where he worked at the printer's case until 1866, when he became a reporter and afterward editor, working at dif-ferent times on the San Francisco Times and Post.

He returned to New York in 1880 and went to England and Ireland the following year, where he was twice arrested as a suspect, but afterward released when his identity became estab-lished. Mr. George is best known to the world at large through his writings upon economic questions, notably his work entitled "Progress and Poverty." published in 1879. His other works are "Our Land and Land Policy," 1877; "Irish Land Question," 1881; "Social Problems," 1883; "Property In Land," a controversy with the Duke of Argyll, 1884; "The Condition of Labor," an open letter to Pope Leo XIII, 1891, and 'A Perplexed Philosopher' (Herbert Spencer), 1892. In 1886 Mr. George was nominated by the United Labor party for mayor of New York, polling 68,000 votes against 90,000 for Abram S. Hewitt, the Democratic nominee, and 60,000 for Theodore Roosevelt, now assistant secretary of the navy. Republican.

HIS SON ACCEPTED.

Young George Is Substituted For His Father by the Jefferson Democrats.

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—The Thomas Jefferson Democracy substituted the name of Henry George, Jr., for the name of his father, Henry George, as candidate for mayor of Greater New York. The nomination was tendered unanimously and George accepted. He will be married Thanksgiving day to Miss Marie Hatch of Chicago. Henry George, Jr., was born in Sac-ramento in 1862. He was educated in the public schools of San Francisco. He was taken from school and put to work in a printing office, and he helped to set type for "Progress and Poverty." He came east with his father in 1880. In 1888 he went to England as his father's private secretary. After his return he was employed for some time on the editorial staff of "Truth," a daily paper then published in this city. Afterward he was assistant to the late James Redpath when the latter was editor of the North American Review. When The Standard was founded by his father as the recognized exponent of the single tax movement he became managing editor of the paper, holding that position until 1891. Then he went to Washington as special correspondent for a number of western papers. In 1892 he spent six months in England as correspondent for several prominent American dailies, writing letters on social and political topics.

In 1893 he went to Jacksonville, Fla., to assume the news management of the Jacksonville Citizen. He held that position for two years and then retired to act as his father's secretary and to assist in the revision of the new book on political economy, which was nearly

NEW YORK, Oct. 20. - Senator Platt, in commenting upon the effect of George's death, said:

"Unless the Jefferson Democrats are betraved by Tom Johnson, who has been their hoodoo from the start, their cial agents to work in states under pervotes will be easily consolidated upon the other candidates. The disreputable deal between Johnson and the Citizens' Union has further possibilities, as far as Johnson is concerned, but not so far as the real friends and foil wers of George are concerned. "General Tracy will not lose a single must be paid. party. Republican vote as the result of Mr. George's death. The Republican party will poll its strength with substantial entirety for General Tracy, and nothing could or can effect that fact. Republicans recognize the Low movement as a Democratic conspiracy. They see in Low an attempt to revive Clevelandism and to betray the Republican party by another of those characteristic tricks of the Cleveland Democracy.

"If the George party should be split up, the Socialist-Democratic element may be carried by Johnson to Low. Low is something of a socialist himself, or rather he is so much of a demagogue that, as he says, he is willing to stand on any platform that will fetch him a handful of votes. This will effect General Tracy's chances favorably. "If George had lived he would have secured an enormous labor support that will now come to General Tracy. The working people appreciate what the Republican party has done for them, not only at Washington by restoring prosperity, but also at Albany, by protecting them and encouraging the development of their organizations."

SETTLERS ALARMED.

Indians Gathering In Large Numbers In Colorado.

DENVER, Oct. 30 .- The game warden's office has received the following dispatch from Game Warden Little at Meeker: "Indians reported gathering in large numbers on the Colorado side of the Blue mountains. Settlers greatly alarmed. Affairs look very threat-

Immediately on the receipt of the dispatch Governor Adams called upon General Otis and held a consultation on what to do in the emergency. From the tenor of the dispatch it appears that the Utes left in Utah are rushing eastward to the assistance of their brethren. Brigadier General Otis received from the commanding officer at Fort Duchesne, Utah, a report that there is no excitement on the reservation. General Otis says the trouble in Routt county will soon end, as the troops will escort the Indians back to their reservation.

State Auditor Lowell received a telegram from his son, who lives on a ranch near where the fight occurred, saying that six Indians were killed and one game warden wounded in the scrimmage on Monday.

The Two Made a Flying Tour Across the State.

C NCINNATI, Oct. 30. -- W. J. Bryan. accompanied by Horace L. Chapman, Democratic candidate for governor of Ohio, made an early morning trip es terday across the state from Van Wert. in Northwestern Onio, to Logan, Hocking county, to begin a series of speeches in Southwestern Ohio. Very early in the morning an assembly of several thousand hailed the train and demanded a speech at Lancaster, Fairfield

Both Bryan and Chapman spoke brie y from the rear platform. The train then pulled on to Logan where a tremendous crowd was at the depot Mr. Bryan spoke an hour and a half to 5,000 people. Mr. Chapman also spoke briefly. Bryan's topics were silver vs. 16 to 1 and caustic attacks on Senator Hanna. Chapman defended himself against charges of unfriendliness to Resuming the train in the afternoon sim lar speeches were made to an equally large and enthusiastic crowd at McArthur. A run was then made to Jackson, the county seat of Jackson county, Mr. Chapman's home, where both, worn by the day's work, spoke breny. The crowd here was much the largest of the day, and lack of speaking was made up in fireworks and other expressions of enthusiasm.

Senator Hanna has gone to Cleveland and made no speeches.

Died From Rat Bite.

CHILLICOTHE, Oct. 30.—Some days ago the 18-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Toops was bitten by a rat on the finger. The child's screams brought the mother in time to see the rodent disappear under the house. Two days later the child's finger began swelling, and, after nearly a week of terrible suffering, the little one died.

RETAIL TRADE SLOWER

Retarded by Yellow Fever and Mild Weather.

STOCKS NOT YET REPLENISHED.

The Filing of Orders Indicate This. Heavy Engagements For Outgoing Wheat-Wool Markets Quiet-Buying of Iron and Steel Keeps Plants Going.

NEW YORK, Oct. 30 .- R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade issued today says: The testing of retail trade is in progress, but results are remark. ably retarded by long continued mild weather and also by the fever in south. ern districts. Even from that quarter some large orders lately received show better distribution than was yet expected. In spite of unseasonably warm weather, which greatly hinders retail dealings in winter goods at all points east of the plains, the large number of supplementary orders, with pressure for quick delivery, make it clear that the sales in many branches have exceeded the expectation of dealers, so that replenishment of stocks is not yet finished. Meanwhile wholesale trade and orders to manufacturers have been smaller than when the rush was greatest, but have nevertheless been large for this stage, even in a year of gen-eral prosperity, for the payments through the principal clearing houses have for the week been 3.9 per cent-larger than in the same week of 1892 and for the month 6.1 per cent.

Heavy engagements for outgoing wheat, covering 4,000,000 bushels this week, effect the monetary prospects but still more the produce markets, for the Atlantic exports are large already. 3,864,649 bushels (flour included), against 2,344,844 for the same week last year, and in four weeks 13,904,557 bushels, against 9,817,058 bushels last year. Western receipts are not quite equal to last year's for the week, but have been 27,969,288 bushels for four weeks against 28,756,644 fast year.

The market advanced 212 cents with No. 2 red actually sold above $1 here, while speculation at St. Louis is pushing prices yet higher.

Wool markets have become quiet. Instead of 13,000,000 pounds reported sold in Boston in the last week of September. 9,200,000 the next week, 5,600,000 the second week of October and 3,000,-000 the third week sales have been but 2,710,000, and at three chief markets 5,231,300, making the aggregate for the month 36,394,000 pounds, against over 66,000,000 pounds in September. Prices are well maintained, although 2 to 3 cents below, but occasional heavy sales indicate concessions for liquidation of speculative lots. The market for goods is not active, as prices have been so far advanced as to hinder buying, in many cases intentionally, until the future is more clear and the mills have ahead quite as large contracts as they just now

The buying of iron and steel products. though smaller than of late, continues to keep works well engaged ahead and induces others to resume operations. Both buyers and manufacturers find it prudent to limit engagements ahead and the period of adjustment will make the industry safer for some time to come. There is great pressure for speedy deliveries, but some abatement of demand, with slightly lower prices, for nails. Tin is some little weaker and copper at 11 cents for lake and competition of home producers lowers tin-plates to $3.10. The coke output is larger, 149.553 tons weekly, but the anthracite coal is weaker, offered here at $4.05, against $4.35 named in circular. Failures for the week have been 219 in the United States, against 270 last year and 25 in Canada, against 40 last year.

RETAIL TRADE SLOWER

Retarded by Yellow Fever and Mild Weather.

STOCKS NOT YET REPLENISHED.

The Filing of Orders Indicate This. Heavy Engagements For Outgoing Wheat-Wool Markets Quiet-Buying of Iron and Steel Keeps Plants Going.

NEW YORK, Oct. 30 .- R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade issued today says: The testing of retail trade is in progress, but results are remark. ably retarded by long continued mild weather and also by the fever in south. ern districts. Even from that quarter some large orders lately received show better distribution than was yet expected. In spite of unseasonably warm weather, which greatly hinders retail dealings in winter goods at all points east of the plains, the large number of supplementary orders, with pressure for quick delivery, make it clear that the sales in many branches have exceeded the expectation of dealers, so that replenishment of stocks is not yet finished. Meanwhile wholesale trade and orders to manufacturers have been smaller than when the rush was greatest, but have nevertheless been large for this stage, even in a year of general prosperity, for the payments through the principal clearing houses have for the week been 3.9 per cent larger than in the same week of 1892 and for the month 6.1 per cent.

Heavy engagements for outgoing wheat, covering 4,000,000 bushels this week, effect the monetary prospects but still more the produce markets, for the Atlantic exports are large already. 3,864,649 bushels (flour included), against 2,344,844 for the same week last year, and in four weeks 13,904,557 bushels, against 9,817,058 bushels last year. Western receipts are not quite equal to last year's for the week, but have been 27,969,288 bushels for four weeks against 28,756,644 fast year.

slightly. Wool markets have become quiet. Instead of 13,000,000 pounds reported sold in Boston in the last week of September. 9,200,000 the next week, 5,600,000 the second week of October and 3,000 .-000 the third week sales have been but 2,710,000, and at three chief markets 5,231,300, making the aggregate for the month 36,394,000 pounds, against over 66,000,000 pounds in September. Prices are well maintained, although 2 to 3 cents below, but occasional heavy sales indicate concessions for liquidation of speculative lots. The market for goods is not active, as prices have been so far advanced as to hinder buying, in many cases intentionally, until the future is more clear and the mills have ahead quite as large contracts as they just now

The buying of iron and steel products, though smaller than of late, continues to keep works well engaged ahead and induces others to resume operations. Both buyers and manufacturers find it prudent to limit engagements ahead and the period of adjustment will make the industry safer for some time to come. There is great pressure for speedy deliveries, but some abatement of demand, with slightly lower prices, for nails. Tin is some little weaker and copper at 11 cents for lake and competition of home producers lowers tinplates to $3.10. The coke output is larger, 149.553 tons weekly, but the anthracite coal is weaker, offered here at $4.05, against $4.35 named in circular.

Failures for the week have been 219 in the United States, against 270 last year and 25 in Canada, against 40 last year.

RAISING SHEEP AGAIN

Harrison County Is Once More Prosperous.

IT ALL CAME ABOUT

A Few Observations From the Prophet o Pisgah as He Wandered Among the Shepherds-We Raise the Best Wool in the World.

EDITOR NEWS REVIEW :- I want to give an account of what has occurred down here among the hills of Harrison county, as an evidence of returning prosperity.

Harrison is the best sheep raising county in the world, and the statement is born out by the fact that at the wool exposition, some years ago in London, Harrison took first premium for the finest and best quality among the wools of the world. At the World's fair this was repeated. The people were all engaged in sheep raising, and will be again under the wise law passed by the last congress, and whose existence is largely due to the personal efforts of Hon. J. B. Foraker, whose statements to the ways and means committee brought about a wool schedule such as the farmers never had before.

Its influence is already causing the shepherds of Harrison county to rejoice, for they are selling their wool at 30 cents a pound.

This week Baxter Bros. delivered their wool at Cadiz. They have always been Democrats, but when the Demoeratic administration came on, they would not trust it enough to sell their wool under the conditions which it brought about. For five years they have held their clip. They sold it this week, 20,000 pounds, and brought it to Cadiz loaded on seven wagons. Each wagon bore a banner on which was written "Prosperity has Returned." A brass band, leading a processson commanded by a marshall and aides, marched out to meet them, and there was great rejoicing. They paraded the streets of the town, and the day was made a time for pleasure.

Sheep raising has been Harrison's great source of wealth, and will be again. Cadiz contains 1,800 people, 500 being colored. They have four national banks with deposits of over $1,600,000, the capital of four institutions representing $3,-356,870.

Another good feature of the county is found in the fact that it does not contain a saloon. The people have been placing their money in the keeping of the banks for the use of themselves and club. families, instead of handing it over to the tender mercies of the saloonist, who demoralizes and debauches society.

In the year 1824 Dixon & Wells built woolen mills at Steubenville and imported sheep from Spain, giving them to the farmers of Jefferson, Belmont, Harrison, Columbiana and Carroll coun ties, in Oho; Hancock county, W. Va. . and Washington, Beaver and Allegheny in Pennsylvania, This represented a district 100 miles in diameter. The farmers could not pay for the sheep-except in wool, and thus was laid the foundation of the thrift of this section.

Other, benefactors of the fine wool growing sections are Livingston and Lawrence, who, about 1828-30, imported heavily from Saxony the finest staple wool growing sheep then in existence, but lighter by fleece. The result was the finest wool raised in the world.

To Hon. J. B. Foraker is largely due the credit of destroying the Democratic conditions. Having done this, he only needs the influence of the flockmasters to again make sheep raising a profitable industry. Yours truly,

D. J. SMITH.

THANKSGIVING DAY.

The President Issues a Proclamation Asking All to Observe Nov. 25.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 39.-President Mc-Kinley has issued his first Thanksgiving day proclamation as follows:

In remembrance of God's goodness to us during the past year, which has been so abundant, "let us offer unto him our thanksgiving and pay our vows unto the most high." Under his watchful providence, industry has prospered, the conditions of labor have been improved, the rewards of the husbandman have been increased and the comfort of our homes multiplied. His mighty hand has preserved peace and protected the nation. Respect for law and order has been strengthened, love of free institutions cherished and all sections of our beloved country brought into closer bonds of fraternal regard and generous co-operation.

For these great benefits it is our duty to praise the Lord in a spirit of humility and gratitude and to offer up to him our may acknowledge our obligation as a people to him who has so graciously granted us the blessing of free government and material prosperity, I, William McKin-ley, president of the United States, do hereby designate and set apart Thursday, the 25th day of November, for national Thanksgiving and prayer, which all of the people are invited to observe with appropriate religious services in their re spective places of worship. On this day of rejoicing and domestic reunion let our prayers ascend to the giver of every good and perfect gift for the continuance of his love and favor to us, that our hearts may be filled with charity and good will, and that we may be ever worthy of his beneficent concern.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Your Eyes.

Has it ever occurred to you to reckou how far your eyes travel in reading? The distance will not startle you, perhaps, for 1,000,000 letters in ordinary type would measure hardly more than a mile, placed side by side. In a lifetime, however, the average reader wends his way through 2,000 miles of print. The average novel of 300 pages contains one mile of reading-that is, the eyes travel Soft and heavy underwear, but light 1,760 yards in reading the book through.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Lesson For the Week Beginning Oct. 31. Comment by Rev. W. J. Yates, A. M. Topic, Third Clause of Epworth League Pledge.

SCRIPTURE READING .- Eph. v, 26-32.

"I will attend, as far as possible, the religious meetings of the church and take some active part in them."

One of the first duties which presses upon one when converted is to unite with the church. Baptism, as the visible sign of entrance to the Christian fellowship, should not be long delayed. But after one has taken the vows of the baptismal covenant and promised to 'renounce the devil and all his works. the vain pomp and glory of the world and all covetous desires of the same, so that he will not follow nor be led by them," it is extremely necessary to attend carefully upon the means of grace in order to grow strong and become firm in the Christian life. A new born babe can as easily care for itself and grow strong if left alone as a young Christian can become stable without joining the church and using the regularly appointed means for establishment in piety.

Many persons do well for awhile after they join the church, but then relax their diligence and omit reading the Bible and private prayer, attendance upon the services of the church and testimony. The majority who tall into indifference and open sin do so gradually and insensibly. A sense of diffidence or embarrassment leads them to omit speaking in meeting. Pressure of engagements and weariness tempts to absence from meetings until one soon loses relish for the place and the exercises. Yet it is not suspected that one has wandered or is in special danger. The doctrinal belief remains as before. No special wrongdoing is indulged. For all this the soul is cold, and the sparkle has gone from the piety, and the soul is in a condition very favorable to temptation.

The pledge to attend and take part in the meetings is wise. Every true Christian should meet often with the other members and gain strength by speaking.

Recruit the Young Men.

One who notices the character of the soldiers in our own army and also in the armies of European nations will be surprised to find how many of them are scarcely more than boys in years. The age of the soldiers in both armies in our civil war was surprisingly young. This means much also in religious work. Young men for war are as truly needed as old men for counsel. The aggressive work of the kingdom of God must be done by the young. The young men should be reached in every community. They can be reached if the church puts on the strength of God and earnestly purposes to save them. It may disturb some of the old notions and rearrange some of the accustomed ways of doing things, but the army of Jesus Christ under the auspices of the Occidental needs the young manhood of our land. While the ending was abrupt Unless the young men are converted and enlisted in Christian service they will soon have joined the great army of the vicious or indifferent. Enlist them for

Danger of Moderate Drinking.

The great danger in the use of intoxicating liquors is not from confirmed drunkards. Seventy-five per cent of the paupers of Massachusetts have been drinkers, but only 25 per cent have been excessive drinkers. Of criminals, over 90 per cent were addicted to alcoholic drinks, but only 17 per cent have used it excessively. Moderate drinkers are the ones who make the most trouble and not the sots. The man who drinks enough to lose the sense of right and yet retain his other faculties is the man who commits crime.

What influence is the League having on the temperance question? With 1,500,000 young people banded for the right some definite impression should be made in the line of reform in the use and sale of intoxicating drinks in our land. Add the hosts of young people in kindred organizations, and what power we ought to wield for the right.

The Muster Roll.

The rapid growth of the young people's societies of the various denominations is one of the marvels of this age of wonders. The latest statistics of enrollment are:

Christian Endeavor (40 denominations)2,162,000 Epworth League (Methodist Episcopal) 1,500,000 Epworth League (Church South)... 150,000 Baptist Young People's Union 400,000 Christian Union (United Brethren).... Lutheran League (Lutheran).. 60,000 Christian Union (United Presbyterian) 35,149 Christian Union (Association Reform Christian Alliance (Evangelical Association)...... 30,407 Total ......4,414,779

A radical difference between heathenism and Christianity is in their ideas of propitiation. The first seeks to change the feelings of the gods toward men and does not strive to alter the nature of the human. Christianity seeks to reconcile men to God by changing the attitude of the human. "Ye must be born again" is fundamental in the religion of Christ. God cannot change own spirit of love.

To be vitally convinced of the truth of the process of renewal described by Scripture a man must put himself with-

Piety and Prosperity.

Money is a convenient measure for almost every sort of endeavor, and to want more money wherewith to discharge our obligations and to help the needy and promote good works, as well as to increase our personal comfort, comes very near being a pious desire. Thrift and honesty come near, in the eyes of contemporary thinkers, to godliness. We have certainly made a great gain in thrift, and there is no reason to think that, as a people, we have retrograded in honesty. We of this generation, when we get into a scrape, are not so much disposed to insist that it was God's will as to reason together and try to find out what stupid thing we have done, or what wise thing we have neglected, that has resulted so disastrously. This we do, not necessarily because we are less religious than our forbears, but perhaps because we are somewhat more reasonable than they. It does not seem certain that this increased sense of our own responsibility is a development that is to be regretted.

However, if any of our friends who are solicitous for our welfare have been disappointed in some of the effects or lack of effect of adversity upon us let us hope that they will be disappointed again, and more agreeably, in the spiritual results of any prosperity that may be vouchsafed to us. -Scribner's.

Wasted Indignation.

The man with the florid face and the bald head grew more and more uneasy as he sat at the restaurant table. He tried to read a newspaper, but every now and then would drop it, adjust his glasses and glare up and down the room to find the waiter to whom he had given his order. At last he managed to detain him, at the risk of being scalded by the soup he carried, and inquired:

"How about that dinner I ordered?" "It will be here immediately, sir," was the answer.

The guest tried to read his newspaper once more, but as time passed his uneasiness increased until he was glaring up and down the room as fiercely as ever. He found his waiter again, and the same conversation was repeated. After two or three mich similar attempts he arose and went over to another waiter who was gracefully leaning against a pillar.

"Look here," said the guest, "I want to know something.'

"Yes," responded the waiter.

"What I want to know is this: Am I ever going to get any dinner, and, if do get it, when will it be?"

The languid young man looked at him and replied:

"Excuse me. I'm afraid you have made a mistake. I am only a waiter, not a prophet."-Detroit Free Press.

Origin of the Ancient Etruscans.

We know less of the language used details of their existence-only enough to be assured that it was of an exceedingly primitive type. It was constructet upon as fundamentally different a system from the Aryan tongues as is that I could scarcely get around my trip. I the Basque, described in our last paper. It seems to have been, like the Basque, allied to the great family of languages which includes the Lapps, Finns and Hungarians in modern Europe and the aborigines of Asia and America. These unfortunate similarities led to all sorts have occasion to use anything of the kind of queer theories as to the racial origin again, Doan's Kidney Pills will be the thing of the people, as wild, many of them, and I advise any one troubled similarly to as those invented for the Basques. If a philologist found similarity in linguistic structure to the Lapp, be immediately jumped to the conclusion that the Etruscans were Lapps and Lapland the primitive seat of the civilization. Thus Taylor in his early work asserts an Asiatic origin akin to the Finns. Then Pauli and Deecke for a time independently traced them to the same Turanian source.-Popular Science Monthly.

Encouraging.

"Come in, sir," said the ardent young college graduate who had just established a literary paper in a flourishing town, according to the Chicago Tribune. "You are my first caller. I dare say I am right in surmising that you have BRGIHT, come to extend a helping hand to this SPICY.... enterprise, so far, at least, as to enroll your name in the list of subscribers. It is no light task, I assure you, to publish a paper of this character, even in larger cities than this, and I look upon it as a duty every good citizen owes to himself to take advantage of every opportunity to improve his mind and elevate his literary taste-to say nothing of the larger duty he owes to society.

His mighty hand has preserved peace and protected the nation. Respect for law and order has been strengthened, love of free institutions cherished and all sections of our beloved country brought into closer bonds of fraternal regard and generous co-operation.

For these great benefits it is our duty to praise the Lord in a spirit of humility and gratitude and to offer up to him our most earnest supplications. may acknowledge our obligation as a people to him who has so graciously granted us the blessing of free government and material prosperity, I, William McKinley, president of the United States, do hereby designate and set apart Thursday, the 25th day of November, for national Thanksgiving and prayer, which all of the people are invited to observe with appropriate religious services in their respective places of worship. On this day of rejoicing and domestic reunion let our prayers ascend to the giver of every good and perfect gift for the continuance of his love and favor to us, that our hearts may be filled with charity and good will, and that we may be ever worthy of his beneficent concern.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the city of Washington this twenty-ninth day of October, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and ninety-seven, and of the independence of the United States, the one hundred and twenty-second. WILLIAM MCKINLEY.

MARTHA CLAYBOURN WON.

Common Law Wife of Allen Gregory Gets His Fortune.

CHICAGO, Oct. 30.-Probate Judge Kohlsaat has rendered his decision in the Gregory will case in favor of the plaintiff, Martha Claybourn. The contest over the $1.000,000 estate of Allen Gregory, "father of the stockyards. which has been in progress several days, proved a sensation. The plaintiff, Martha Claybourn, sought to establish her rights as the widow of Allen Gregory. and did so through the evidence given by Mrs. Lillie Gregory of Kansas City, a niece of the millionaire. Mrs. Gregory testified that on March 3 last she performed a common law marriage ceremony uniting her uncle and Miss Claybourn, with whom he is said to have lived for 40 years.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Lesson For the Week Beginning Oct. 31. Comment by Rev. W. J. Yates, A. M. Topic, Third Clause of Epworth League Pledge.

SCRIPTURE READING. - Eph. v, 26-32. "I will attend, as far as possible, the religious meetings of the church and take some active part in them.'

One of the first duties which presses upon one when converted is to unite with the church. Baptism, as the visible sign of entrance to the Christian fellowship, should not be long delayed. But after one has taken the vows of the baptismal covenant and promised to renounce the devil and all his works. the vain pomp and glory of the world and all covetous desires of the same, so that he will not follow nor be led by them," it is extremely necessary to attend carefully upon the means of grace in order to grow strong and become firm in the Christian life. A new born babe can as easily care for itself and grow strong if left alone as a young Christian can become stable without joining the church and using the regularly appointed means for establishment in piety.

Many persons do well for awhile after they join the church, but then relax their diligence and omit reading the Bible and private prayer, attendance upon the services of the church and testimony. The majority who fall into indifference and open sin do so gradually and insensibly. A sense of diffidence or embarrassment leads them to omit speaking in meeting. Pressure of engagements and weariness tempts to absence from meetings until one soon loses relish for the place and the exercises. Yet it is not suspected that one has wandered or is in special danger. The doctrinal belief remains as before. No special wrongdoing is indulged. For all this the soul is cold, and the sparkle has gone from the piety, and the soul is in a condition very favorable to temptation.

The pledge to attend and take part in the meetings is wise. Every true Christian should meet often with the other members and gain strength by speaking.

Recruit the Young Men.

One who notices the character of the soldiers in our own army and also in the armies of European nations will be surprised to find how many of them are scarcely more than boys in years. The age of the soldiers in both armies in our civil war was surprisingly young. This means much also in religious work. Young men for war are as truly needed as old men for counsel. The aggressive work of the kingdom of God must be done by the young. The young men should be reached in every community. Lavigne Gave the Negro a Hard Drub- They can be reached if the church puts on the strength of God and earnestly SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 30.—George purposes to save them. It may disturb some of the accustomed ways of doing enlisted in Christian service they will soon have joined the great army of the vicious or indifferent. Enlist them for

Danger of Moderate Drinking.

The great danger in the use of intoxicating liquors is not from confirmed drunkards. Seventy-five per cent of the paupers of Massachusetts have been drinkers, but only 25 per cent have been excessive drinkers. Of criminals, over never occurred to any one to differen-90 per cent were addicted to alcoholic drinks, but only 17 per cent have used it excessively. Moderate drinkers are the ones who make the most trouble and not the sots. The man who drinks enough to lose the sense of right and yet retain his other faculties is the man who commits crime.

What influence is the League having on the temperance question? With 1,500,000 young people banded for the right some definite impression should be made in the line of reform in the use and sale of intoxicating drinks in our land. Add the hosts of young people in kindred organizations, and what power we ought to wield for the right.

The Muster Roll.

The rapid growth of the young people's societies of the various denominations is one of the marvels of this age of wonders. The latest statistics of enrollment are: Christian Endeavor (40 denominations)2,162,000

Epworth League (Methodist Episcopal) 1,500,000 Epworth League (Church South) ... Baptist Young People's Union ... Christian Union (United Brethren)... Lutheran League (Lutheran). Christian Union (United Presbyterian) 35,149 Christian Union (Association Reform-Christian Alliance (Evangelical Association)..... Total ......4,414,779

A radical difference between heathenism and Christianity is in their ideas of propitiation. The first seeks to change the feelings of the gods toward men and does not strive to alter the nature of the human. Christianity seeks to reconcile men to God by changing the attitude of the human. "Ye must be born again" is fundamental in the religion of Christ. God cannot change His nature of holiness, but He will give new spirit to men by imparting His own spirit of love.

To be vitally convinced of the truth of the process of renewal described by Scripture a man must put himself within that process.

Plety and Prosperity.

Money is a convenient measure for almost every sort of endeavor, and to want more money wherewith to discharge our obligations and to help the needy and promote good works, as well as to increase our personal comfort, comes very near being a pious desire. Thrift and honesty come near, in the eyes of contemporary thinkers, to godliness. We have certainly made a great gain in thrift, and there is no reason to think that, as a people, we have retrograded in honesty. We of this generation, when we get into a scrape, are not so much disposed to insist that it was God's will as to reason together and try to find out what stupid thing we have done, or what wise thing we have neglected, that has resulted so disastrously. This we do, not necessarily because we are less religious than our forbears, but perhaps because we are somewhat more reasonable than they. It does not seem certain that this increased sense of our own responsibility is a development that is to be regretted.

However, if any of our friends who are solicitous for our welfare have been disappointed in some of the effects or lack of effect of adversity upon us let us hope that they will be disappointed again, and more agreeably, in the spiritual results of any prosperity that may be vouchsafed to us.—Scribner's.

Wasted Indignation.

The man with the florid face and the bald head grew more and more uneasy as he sat at the restaurant table. He tried to read a newspaper, but every now and then would drop it, adjust his glasses and glare up and down the room to find the waiter to whom he had given his order. At last he managed to detain him, at the risk of being scalded by the soup he carried, and inquired: "How about that dinner I ordered?"

"It will be here immediately, sir," was the answer.

The guest tried to read his newspaper once more, but as time passed his uneasiness increased until he was glaring up and down the room as fiercely as ever. He found his waiter again, and the same conversation was repeated. After two or three mich similar attempts he arose and went over to another waiter who was gracefully leaning against a pillar.

"Look here," said the guest, "I want to know something."

"Yes," responded the waiter.

"What I want to know is this: Am I ever going to get any dinner, and, if I do get it, when will it be?"

The languid young man looked at him and replied:

"Excuse me. I'm afraid you have made a mistake. I am only a waiter, not a prophet."-Detroit Free Press.

Origin of the Ancient Etruscans.

We know less of the language used by the Etruscans than of many other details of their existence-only enough to be assured that it was of an exceedingly primitive type. It was constructest upon as fundamentally different a such severe pains across the small of my back system from the Aryan tongues as is that I could scarcely get around my trip. I the Basque, described in our last paper. It seems to have been, like the Basque, allied to the great family of languages macy and got a box of Doan's Kidney Pills which includes the Lapps, Finns and look them. The result was that the pains Hungarians in modern Europe and the aborigines of Asia and America. These unfortunate similarities led to all sorts of queer theories as to the racial origin again, Doan's Kidney Pills will be the thing of the people, as wild, many of them, and I advise any one troubled similarly to as those invented for the Basques. It tiate race, language and culture one trio may be in our eyes today. If a philologist found similarity in linguistic structure to the Lapp, he immediately jumped to the conclusion that the Etruscans were Lapps and Lapland the primitive seat of the civilization. Thus Taylor in his early work asserts an Asiatic origin akin to the Finns. Then Pauli and Deecke for a time independently traced them to the same Turanian source. - Popular Science Monthly.

I dare say I am right in surmising that you have BRGIHT, come to extend a helping hand to this SPICY .... enterprise, so far, at least, as to enroll your name in the list of subscribers. It is no light task, I assure you, to publish a paper of this character, even in larger cities than this, and I look upon it as a duty every good citizen owes to himself to take advantage of every opportunity to improve his mind and elevate his literary taste-to say nothing of the larger duty he owes to society.

R.V. DR. BROWN'S POSITION.

He Stands Su pended From Bay Conference, but May Preach In Chicago.

CHICAGO, Oct. 30.—Rev. Charles O. Brown, D. D., still stands suspended from the ministry.

Bay conference was declared by the mutual council of the Congregational church to be justified in its action in suspending him.

At the same time the finding of the council vindicates him of the original serious charge and urges that the conference and the minister strive to adjust their differences.

The verdict is a victory for the Bay conferene, with a "palliative" for Dr. Brown.

His position at the present time is a strange one. He is suspended from the Bay conference, on the Pacific coast This finding has been justified by the appellate lody. His ministerial stand ing is effected. Still, he may remain as pastor of the Green Street church Chicago, as long as the church cares to have him. He may remain a member of the Chicago association as long as the association cares to welcome him into the fold.

SECRETARY WILSON'S REPORT.

He Makes Important Recommendations For the Good of the Farmers.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30. - Secretary Wilson has presented his report to the in charge of the funeral ceremonies of president reviewing the operations of the department of agriculture for the past year. The most important recommendation made by him is one that agents for the department should be stationed at each of our more important American embassies for the collection of information of interest to American farmers.

The secretary recommends an increase in the appropriations in aid of the bureau of animal industry, of the weather bureau and the publication offices Mr. Wilson says the department will continue its pioneer work in the enconragement of the sugar beet, and expresses the opinion that the country will, within a few years, raise all the sugar it requires. He expresses the opinion that nearly all of the $382,000,-000 sent abroad last year for sugar, hides, fruits, wines, animals, rice, flax, hemp, cheese, wheat, barley, beans. eggs and milk might have been kept at home. He also thinks the United States should grow their own chicory. castor beans, lavender, licorice, mustard, opium, etc. With reference to horses the secretary says: "The American farmer can grow horses as cheaply as he can grow cattle; we have a heavy and profitable export trade in cattle and may have an export trade equally heavy and profitable in horses. The secretary criticises the present system of crop reporting. He favors the making of some slight pecuniary acknowledgement of the service of a careful selected corps of correspondents located mainly in the principal agricultural states. He recommends the employm nt of a principal statistical agent

SECRETARY WILSON'S REPORT.

For the Good of the Farmers.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30, - Secretary Wilson has presented his report to the president reviewing the operations of Frank Fogo was so unfortunate as to the department of agriculture for the past year. The most important recommendation made by him is one that agents for the department should be stationed at each of our more important American embassies for the collection of information of interest to American farmers.

The secretary recommends an increase in the appropriations in aid of the bureau of animal industry, of the weather bureau and the publication

Mr. Wilson says the department will continue its pioneer work in the encouragement of the sugar beet, and expresses the opinion that the country will, within a few years, raise all the sugar it requires. He expresses the opinion that nearly all of the $382,000,-000 sent abroad last year for sugar. hides, fruits, wines, animals, rice, flax, hemp, cheese, wheat, barley, beans. eggs and milk might have been kept at home. He also thinks the United States should grow their own chicory. castor beans, lavender, licorice, mustard, opium, etc.

With reference to horses the secretary says: "The American farmer can grow horses as cheaply as he can grow cattle; we have a heavy and profitable export trade in cattle and may have an export trade equally heavy and profitable in horses.

The secretary criticises the present system of crop reporting. He favors the making of some slight pecuniary acknowledgement of the service of a careful selected corps of correspondents located mainly in the principal agricultural states. He recommends the employm nt of a principal statistical agent in each state.

New York, Oct. 30,-The committee in charge of the funeral ceremonies of Henry George have arranged the for lowing order of services:

From sunrise on Sunday, Oct. 31, til. sunset of the same day, the body of the great leader will lie in state in the Grand Central palace. During the afternoon, beginning at 3 o'clock, the funeral services and orations will take place.

The funeral car will start from the Grand Central palace at 7 o'clock on Sunday evening and proceed by a route to be announced later via the Brooklyn bridge to the Brooklyn city hall. In this informal procession every friend and admirer of Henry George is invited

A Very Singular Answer.

Sarah Bernhardt, desiring on her approaching tour to play in Strassburg, addressed the German government for permission to appear in Alsace-Lorraine. She received the following singular reply: "Mme. Sarah Bernhardt having several times declared that she would never play in Germany, we do not desire to cause her to break her word But as Strassburg is in a somewhat peculiar case we willingly give her the permission she asks on condition that she plays previously in some other German theater that she may be pleased to designate." Mme. Bernhardt answered that she decined to accept the condition and would consequently give up her purpose to play at Strassburg before her compatriots. - New York Tribune.

Odd Decision About Mustard

At the recent term of quarter sessions in Stroudsburg, Pa., Judge Allen Craig made a decision that will be of interest to those who have suffered under the pure food law. The decision was made in the suit brought by Inspector R. M. Simmers against Zeig Bros of Tobyhanna Mills, whom the former caused to be arrested for selling impure musdence which, if uncontradicted, will tard. The commonwealth had for their chief witness Professor Cochran, head of the department of chemistry of the West Chester (Pa.) Normal school and analyst for the commission. Judge Craig, in his decision, claimed that mustard was not a food, and the jury acquitted the defendants. - Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Larger Each Year.

The experiment of growing tobacco at Fort Meade, Fla., which will be fully equal to the best Cuban tobacco, is likely to prove wholly successful. Two crops a year are raised, and the acreage under culture is larger every year. -Florida Tobacco Leaf.

For Commissioner, W. K. George of Madison township.
For Prosecutor, J. H. Brookes of Liverpool township.
For Infirmary Director, C. D. Filson of Center township.

IF you want to support the principle which has made East Liverpool the crockery center of the western world, stand by the Republican ticket.

Ir every Buckeye will do his duty next Tuesday the state will have cause to rejoice. There is no danger when men like General Bushnell sit in the excoutive's office at the capitol.

THE methods used by the Democrats in Cincinnati should cut down the vote for McLean and Chapman in every other county of the state. No self-respecting man will knowingly indorse fraud and corruption.

THE men who bought butter and bacon at Chapman's company stores will not be found among the men who will put a cross under the Democratic emblem on the state ticket. They have long ago had enough of Chapman and his money making ideas.

THE man who watches the course of events will vote the Republican ticket next Monday because the Republican party has proved that it is the party Ander whose principles this country can best be governed. Not only is this true of the nation, but it is also true of the state. No man could have filled public office better than has Governor Bushnell. Support him when you vote next Tuesday, and you will make no mistake.

STAND BY THE TICKET.

The importance of the election next Tuesday cannot be underestimated. A Republican victory will show the world that a prophet is not always without honor in his own country, and that the people of Ohio endorse the public actions of William McKinley. Go to the polls. Put a cross under the eagle and do what you can individually for the success of the Republican party. Support the ticket.

M'LEAN METHODS.

McLean has been in Ohio politics before, and his plan of doing business is very well known to the people of this state. That is why the Republican leaders are watching and expecting something unusual next Tuesday. The events of a few years ago are so fresh in the public mind that the names of some of McLean's lieutenants could not be associated with any campaign without there being some suspicion that all was the worst case of Sore Mouth is not as it should be.

MR. HANNA'S CAMPAIGN.

He Has Been Showing Some Things of Interest to Ohio.

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.-There is much that is provoking in the inadequacy of the information of New York persons and papers about the Ohio contest. The Read what a well-known citizen of East average mugwump does not take kindly to Mark Hanna, and has a povertystricken idea as to his remarkable services. It is the mugwump, and, to a certain extent, the Wall street notion, that right here there was an uprising for the gold standard that elected Mc-Kinley, while Hanna presided over Twenty-third street, and did well by managing the campaign as they desired. They are very much mistaken. Mr.

As the Democratic party has gone to erty. yellow dogs in New York, and the mugwump Citizens' union is assailing the Republican party, where do the business men here expect to find their friends the bridge was not banked enough at when the "enemy's country" is invaded | the ends. by the enemies of public credit and the anarchical hordes that infest the land?

The Cincinnati Enquirer has pursued Senator Hanna through the campaign almost closed with a great deal of incapacity, but surprising mechanical display, and the fecundity of the concern in falsehood has been remarkable. Mr. Hanna's appearance on the stump in Ohio has been the theme of a thousand fabrications of the most vulgar description. The lying has evidently been under instructions, and has descended to stupid pretenses that the Hanna meetings were small, and there have been feeble efforts to belittle him, and to distort his manly and wholesome speeches, and make a noise about his "hippodrome."

A great multitude of the people of Ohio have fortunately seen and heard Senator Hanna, and he has been a great success on the stump. He does not pretend to oratory, but he knows men, and appreciates audience, and has the great advantage of having something to say. He is full of accurate information, and has a taking and telling way of putting things that "goes." The people like him for his frankness, and his delightful fund of good fun. He is a candidate for the senate and says so; and he stands up before the people and talks public business to them in a way they like. This is a contrast to Mr. McLean's furtive methods of candidacy, which seem to want to hide the fact that he is out for something, unless he has two or three admiring listeners, who are paid for their attention. It will be impossible for him to go before the people. He can give the hailing sign of the pocketbook, however. His party is a secret

It is not a new thing for Mr. Hanna to speak in public. He made one of the 25 cents.

This is an extremely painful disease, often asting for weeks when only the ordinary remedies are used. Those who have suffered from Sore Mouth can best understand the value of a remedy by the use of which

DRAGGED ON A TRESTLE

Hudson B. Kinney, Who Has Been Wanted by the County Authorities on a Serious Charge, Was Arrested at Hookstown and Locked Up.

LISBON, Oct. 30.—[Special.]—Mrs. Ida M. Johnson's claim for damages against the East Liverpool street railway, was filed with Clerk McNutt, this morning.

Mrs. Johnson asks $5,000 for injuries received. The accident occurred Oct. 4, on the trestle over Little Yellow creek, Wellsville. She was in the act of boarding a west bound car, and claims it was violently and carelessly started which caused her to lose her footing. In order to save herself serious injuries she was compelled to hold to the hand rail, and submit to being dragged over the trestle a distance of 10 feet. The injuries sustained were principally to her spine and and nervous system, confining her to her bed for over two weeks. Negligence on the part of the motorman is charged.

WIFE CROSSED THE SEA

Leaving the Husband Disconsolate In Liverpool.

ONLY MARRIED YEARS

A Man Purchased Her Ticket, and It Is Believed That She Took the Next Train For England Where She Has Many Relatives.

Since last Saturday a gloom has been cast over Morton's addition, all due to the actions of a wife toward her husband. He now mourns the loss of her and their little child.

The husband discovered his wife had left him when he came home to dinner last Saturday and found the house minus those whom he expected to see. He soon arrived at the conclusion that he had been deserted. Search was instituted, and for two days nothing was heard of her. Wednesday he learned that on Monday a gentleman purchased a ticket for New York and said it was for a lady. No more questions were asked, and it is supposed the woman in question left for New York on the 8 o'clock train Monday evening and sailed for England Wednesday noon.

The parties came from England to this place in May 1896, and when they landed in New York they had over $1,000. They were only married a short time, and the money was a gift from the father of the young man, who is mayor of a leading town in the pottery district.

What caused the woman to leave her husband cannot be understood, as it was learned from the neighbors that he did for her all that any man could do for his wife.

Uncle Tom's Cabin.

The Salter & Martin mammoth, original Uncle Tom's Cabin company, at the Grand on Monday, Nov. 1, travel in their own special train of cars; carry $1,000 worth of scenery, besides horses, burros, donkeys, mules, 10 Shetland ponies, 12 man-eating bloodhounds, and, in order to present a perfect rendering, a company of artists of the highest reputation has been selected with the greatest care for their particular fitness for the personification of the various characters of the drama.

The First Steamboat Whistle.

Early in May, 1844, the steamer Rochester departed from Buffalo, bound for Chicago. The engineer was a mechanical genius named McGee, and he had constructed a steam whistle from plans which he had seen in a scientific paper. On the way up the lakes he blew it at every stop, much to the astonishment and terror of the inhabitants. Just before reaching Mackinac the Rochester, after a lively race, passed the steamer General Porter, Captain C. L. Gager. Engineer McGee celebrated the victory by blowing his whistle derisively and noisily. When both boats reached the wharves, Captain Gager rushed up in a rage, shaking his fist and daring McGee to come down and face him.

MARRIED YEARS

A Man Purchased Her Ticket, and It Is Believed That She Took the Next Train For England Where She Has Many

Since last Saturday a gloom has been cast over Morton's addition, all due to the actions of a wife toward her husband. He now mourns the loss of her and their little child.

The husband discovered his wife had left him when he came home to dinner last Saturday and found the house minus those whom he expected to see. He soon arrived at the conclusion that he had been deserted. Search was instituted, and for two days nothing was heard of her. Wednesday he learned that on Monday a gentleman purchased a ticket for New York and said it was for a lady. No more questions were asked, and it is supposed the woman in question left for New York on the 8 o'clock train Monday evening and sailed for England Wednesday noon.

The parties came from England to this place in May 1896, and when they landed in New York they had over $1,000. They were only married a short time, and the money was a gift from the father of the young man, who is mayor of a leading town in the pottery district.

What caused the woman to leave her husband cannot be understood, as it was learned from the neighbors that he did for her all that any man could do for his wife.

EDITOR NEWS REVIEW :- Last Monday's paper gives the report of a sermon that is supposed to be an answer to what I said at St. Aloysius church the Thursday preceding on the subject of purgatory. If the report be accurate, Mr. O. S. Reed is chargeable with many misstatements. I have counted eight misstatements of Catholic doctrine in your report, not to mention half a dozen other statements that are evidently false, viz: 1. That priestly celibacy is of divine

- 2. That someone other than God for-
- That mortal sins are unforgivable.
- That there are three positions in the future, after the final settlement. That through punishment the
- sinner can escape hell and enter heaven. 6. That heaven is attained through punishment and not through love.
- 7. That the sufferings of purgatory are meritorious or redemptive.
- 8. That Catholics reject Christ's

If I were guilty of any of the above statements I ought to be called home and sent to a children's catechism class. Just what Christian purpose Mr. Reed can have in view in misstating our doctrines passes my comprehension. Misstatements arise from one of two causes, from ignorance or malice, and in either case are inexcusable. Father Graham and myself scrupulously avoided attacking any man's religion, holding that a person's religious convictions should be respected. Why should Protestants be less tolerant than Catholics? What is to be gained by such attacks? We proposed and explained Catholic doctrine; let Mr. Reed do the same for his church if he chooses; but I hope it is not making an unfair request to ask him to refrain from discussing Catholic doctrines until he has first learned what they are. He is incompetent to speak for the belief of Catholics, let alone

"If the American league for liberating African slaves amounts to anything, and I mean to do my best for it, thousands of bales of cloth must come to Africa in the next few years. We are right in the center of the slave trade. Philanthropic Americans might club in, buy of a local manufacturer 30 pieces of cloth for $12 or less, contribute $12 more to transport it to Luebo, and thus liberate 15 slaves and give them a start.

"For any liberated slave colony I pay back in ivory, oil or rubber every cent on their redemption money, with 100 per cent interest, transport expenses included, in three years from date. Mr. Ladue was fortunate enough to be successful in his trading post investments to have on hand ample capital to carry out his plans, and there is no man living who is better posted on Alaska and the great North West Territories than Mr. Joseph Ladue. He has just returned from that country to his old home in Schuler Falls, N. Y., where he passed a large portion of his boyhood and early manhood. BRYAN PAID A GLOWING TRIBUTE.

Penator Hanna Said Bad He Been Broader, He Would Have Been a Great Benefactor-Croker Expressed Sorrow-Other Views,

New York, Oct. 30. - Richard Croker sent to Mrs. George a message saying: "Allow me to express my deepest sympathy for you in your great bereavement." He further said that he was sorry from the bottom of his heart.

Seth Low, candidate for mayor of Greater New York on the Citizen's Union ticket, regarding Henry George's death, said:

"The sudden death of Mr. George under the stress of the campaign is a great tragedy. No soldier on the battlefield ever gave his life for his country more evidently than Mr. George has laid down his life in behalf of the city of New York. Pure in motive, highminded, absolutely devoted to the services of his fellow men as he thought they could best be served, he has fallen in the thick of the battling against the tyranny and corruption of one man power, which controls the political machine and thus deprives the people at once of their rights as free men and of control of the government of the city in the public interests.

"I would like to avail of this opportunity to express to the family of Mr. George my sincere sympathy in their irreparable loss."

"During the campaign Mr. George repeatedly recognized that fundamentally this is a fight against bossism and all that this implies in political degradation and corruption. In view of Mr. George's death I wish, therefore, to say to the people of the city that I shall give myself to this contest in their behalf with a new and higher resolve as though I had received it as a last charge from his dying lips.'

Rev. Dr. McGlynn burst into tears when taken into the room where the dead man lay. Afterward he said that George had died as Lincoln died, but that the great work he inaugurated will go on.

The following was sent by Judge Van Wyck, the Tammany candidate for mayor, to Mrs. George words can express my regret or my sincere sympathy.

"ROBERT A. VAN WYCK." General Tracy, the Republican nominee for mayor, said:

"I regret exceedingly this unfortunate affair. I have had the highest respect for Mr. George's philosophy." Ex-Congressman Tom Johnson said: 'My best friend has gone.

nothing further to say." The New York newspapers of all parties in the mayoralty night speak highly of the dead man.

London papers, some criticize and others praise. LOGAN, O., Oct. 30.-W. J. Bryan, regarding George's death, said: "The suddenness with which the summons came will make more keen the sorrow which the public generally will feel at the death of so great, so pure and so brave a man. By his own unaided genius he made his name familiar to the reading people of the world around. Those who agreed with his theories found in him an ideal leader, while those who opposed him admitted his ability and moral courage. He was one of the foremost thinkers of the world. His death will prove a loss to literature, society and politics."

CINCINNATI, Oct. 30.—Senator Hanna spoke as follows of George's death: "It is a shock to the country. Henry George was an honest man; a man of conviction. But, as far as his usefulness was concerned, it was neutralized ty his one idea. Had he been broader in his views he would have been a great benefactor of his country. But he was no demagogue. Dr. Clark found a society in the diamond fields at Kimberley some of whose members spend their lives washing and sorting diamonds, of which $70,000 worth are found there every day. Young men of absolute honesty are needed for this interesting occupation, and Christian Endeavorers "fill the bill."

Some of the Endeavorers of South Africa have gone to the north to fight for their country in the bloody native wars which are constantly occurringanother kind of Christian citizenship.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning Oct. 31. Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle. TOPIC.-Trust Christ-for what ?- H Tim. 1,

In the closing verse of the topical reference we have one of the most sublime expressions of profound trust in Jesus Christ to be found anywhere in sacred or secular literature. For the gospel's sake Paul was suffering. He had met with opposition and persecution, he had suffered untold pain and anguish, and yet in prison he is not dismayed, he does not doubt or waver in his faith. Instead his trust is only intensified. "I know," he says, "in whom I have trusted and am persuaded that He is able to keep my deposit till that day." He looks upon his soul as having been deposited into the care of Jesus Christ, and not even persecution was able to shake his belief in Christ's ability to save him.

We should trust Christ for everything and under all circumstances in life. In the midst of privation and want, when the temporal affairs of life are not as we would like, we should trust Christ. knowing "the Lord will provide." In times of persecution and trial and tribulation, because of our faith in Christ, we should still trust Him, knowing that He is able to keep that we have intrusted to His keeping till that day. In time of bereavement and sorrow, when the sun seems darkened, when God seems to have hidden His face from us. we should still trust Christ, knowing that His grace is sufficient for us. In time of temptation, when the tempter seems about to gain the victory over us, we should trust Him who is able to overcome even Satan himself.

Christ has been tried and has always proved sure and faithful. Paul was not putting his trust in severe trials in an unknown, untried person. "I know,' he says, "in whom I have trusted." Paul is not the only one who has learned from experience that Christ can be trusted for all things. Christians in all ages have learned by experience to say, "I know in whom I have trusted."

Jesus Christ is the only one to whom we can intrust the interests of our souls. 'There is no other name under heaven given among men whereby we must be saved." It is folly to trust in anything else than Christ for salvation, for there is salvation in no other name. What a comfort, then, that salvation in Christ is sure; that we may know for a certainty; that we may be fully persuaded "I am inexpressably shocked. No that He is able to keep all that we put in His care. Let us trust Christ for all things, but, over and above everything else, let us leave in His care the eternal interests of our souls.

Sunshine In Religion.

Sunshine has its uses in making our religion what it should be-a thing of brightness. There is danger of making it too cold and gloomy. God did not intend it to be thus. It is a difficult matter, at any rate, to induce men to accept religion, and if they are left under the impression that when they unite with the church they are going into the sunless and gloomy region of an arctic land it will make it all the more difficult to induce them to choose the better part. Let joy, brightness, geniality, tempered by the spirit of Jesus, characterize our religion, and these persons will lay hold of it with earnestness. Let us make use of sunshine everywhere. Do cares come, let us go at them with sunshiny hearts. They will soon melt away under its power. If afflictions come, nothing will so brighten the sickbed as sunshine. Is the home darkened by the shadow of death? Sunshine will lighten it and show us the golden stairway up which our departed have gone. Sunshine, sunshine everywhere-in the world, in the home, in the church. There is joy and brightness in heaven. Why should it be wanting here?-Christian Register.

Signs of Church Activity.

The past year has been one of what many call hard times, yet it is a remarkable fact that a very considerable number of new church buildings and improvements and repairs have been reported. This may be taken as a sign of church life and activity. When the church is growing, it makes room for itself. New houses of worship and material betterments are indications of prosperity. The inward and spiritual expresses itself in these outward ways. Our Zion seems on the king's highway to future growth.-Reformed Church Messenger.

Vacation Time.

Vacation comes, vacation goes, but the pulpit remains. Whether forever or only for a short while, that is another question. Be it as it may, we have for all the same good wishes. To the "stay at home" brethren we say, "Blessed are they who abide in Thy house." The "going abroad" colleagues we greet with the words, "Blessed are they whose journey is blameless."-Jewish Messenger.

W. V. BLAKE MAKES A SPEECH AT CADIZ.

He Does Not Propose to Have Potters Classed With the Unskilled Men Who Work on Farms.

W. V. Blake. the Republican candidate for state senator in this district. made a speech in Cadiz, recently. The Cadiz Democrat has the following to say of Blake's speech:

Blake boasted how he had vanquished William J. Bryan in argument, once upon a time, when he (Blake) was before the ways and means committee when Mr. Bryan was a member of it. The story was this, in substance. Mr. Blake wanted a higher duty on pottery. Mr. Bryan asked what wages the laboring men engaged in the pottery trade were then getting. From $2 to $4 per day, replied Blake. That is a great deal more than the farmers of Nebraska are making, said Bryan, and he objected to Blake's demand for higher duties on pottery. Then it was that Blake had, as he seemed to think, utterly crushed Bryan by stating that he did not propose to have "his men" classed with the unskilled men who work on farms.

This was Blake's crushing blow to Bryan. It gives the farmers a pretty clear idea of Blake's fitness to represent them in the Ohio legislature. Hollingsworth introduced Blake as a man who did not "know anything about wool," but he should have added that he was a damphool on general principles and didn't know anything. Blake's notion that more skill and brain force are required to mould mud and make a crock, than to successfully conduct a farm, is utterly preposterous

Here are some of Hanna's man Blake's ideas

"This is my first trip down 'ere among the 'ills of 'arrison county.'

"The man who votes for silver again as lost his balance."

"Silver is dead." "When my skilled labor is classed with common farm labor, I'll kick."

"I propose to kick." "We have plenty of gold and we don't propose to 'ave silver drive it into 'iding."
